

'Rethink Ageing' Speakers

Rob Charlton, Chief Executive

Rob became Chief Executive of Space in 2005, since then he has developed the business from a regional architectural practice, into a network of construction and property specialists working across the UK. An architect by profession, Rob's drive for innovation in construction has ensured Space has an inbuilt creative culture. He is passionate about delivering social value via the built environment and reducing the impact buildings have on our environment.

Lesley Palmer, Director, INCH Architecture

Lesley Palmer, Chief Architect for Dementia Services Development Centre at the University of Stirling, co-founder of Iridis and Director of INCH Architecture. Lesley, an experienced Architect with extensive international experience of designing and advising on dementia principles and a Steering Group Member for the British Standards Institute PAS 6463: Design for the Mind, a member of the Dementia Ageing Research Group, University of Stirling and External Steering Committee Member of the PRIDE, Newcastle University.